I have one word for Indian education system that is "we are better illiterate". This system is outdated, corrupt, lack of practical, creativity, imagination and physical education and development. The total curriculum of our education system is outdated. Now from early age we teach our children to mug up things rather than put their own thoughts in it that's why from early age we get bored from reading that's why most of Indians don't want to read any book rather it is educational or abstract even we don't like to read newspaper. Books develop our intellectual and personality if we don't read abstract book we can't understand outside world. Early age we start reading series and mug up the books for getting good marks but it stops our creative things and stops to put our own views that's why some of us don't take life changing decision and teachers are also responsible for that because they only give number when you write as book. Practical knowledge is essential. Even our brain science said that if you see and listen to the thing you better understand it. I am here professional and I know what problem I faced because of that in my job and lots of people face that. Physical education is also important because it develops ourselves mentally and physically. It makes our brain fit. Read today that the government has suddenly woken up to the fact that there are more than 300 archaic laws in India and these will be repealed soon. The situation is similar in the case of our education system which is based on the system that was introduced in the early nineteenth century.
