A ship named Scotia was struck by some unknown force, resultingina two-yard widehole in the ship's bottom. Ocean water had entered into the ship through that hole. The Captain of the ship remembered that few seconds earlier there was a jolt to the shipbut atthat time he did not bother for that jolt. Moreover, there was no rock or land mass nearby. The whole was in the shape of a triangle and it was near perfect. Naturally, the object that had hit it the Scotia was very powerful. The Scotia was not the first to be struck. It was just one of many ships that had been hit in the year of 1867. Vessels and been met by a long object large and more speedy in its movements than a whale. Governments of Europe and America, Captains of the ships and the merchants whose consignments were being sent through ships got worried and became deeply worried in the matter.
